A Note From Your Director...

Hello BDA Family,

Happy Recital Day! Today is my favorite kind of day, SHOW DAY! All our work will be showcased. The new skills that have been mastered will all take place on this beautiful, famous, historic Kimball Theatre stage.

“It’s A Wonderful Life” was a title I chose for the Christmas show in 2021. It was my second Christmas without my Late Husband Justin Tubach and my first recital as a director. At this point in my grief journey, I had to keep telling myself “Live a wonderful life, Jasmine.” It was hard to think those words, hard to say those words, let alone to live them. Life was not how it was ‘supposed to be’ it was not “wonderful”. I had my new baby but without my husband. There was a giant hole in my life, in my plan, and in my future. This show was birthed out of hope. Hope that somehow, I, a widow at 27 and a single parent, was going to live a “Wonderful Life”. Hope’s that I would provide my beautiful baby boy with a “Wonderful Life.” Today, you will see a small glimpse of that beautiful life I have built. You will see my son Jackson on stage with his cute three-year-old self. You will see me take the stage once again and shine. You are all apart of my wonderful life. The studio has become my purpose. This role is a fulfilling one and it is all in honor of Justin Tubach, so the name reads “Just In Motion”.

This recital hits a little different, I have had a difficult time placing exactly why. Maybe it is because of the over-the-top location, maybe it’s because my son is dancing on stage in his first recital and maybe it’s because the studio has never felt more like a home to me than it has this season. This has been my favorite season so far. The BDA families all feel like an extension of my personal family. All the children are thriving and feel ‘seen’. They are supporting each other, clapping for each other, reaching out and making new friends. All these aspects have warmed my heart in such a unique way. I am thankful to direct this beautiful studio & thankful to have YOU in my life.

Thank you & may God bless you & keep you,
Miss. Jasmine

Dedication

Jesus is the reason for the season. “There is no greater love than to lay down one’s life for one’s friend” John 15:13.
